REORGANIZATION OF REPUBLICAN PARTY IS ASKED

SENATOR BORAH OPENS FIGHT ON CONSERVATIVES

Charles Hillis Says Rank And File Not For Change

By D. Harold Oliver
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A revolt by young and liberal republican elements to force a "complete reorganization" of the party for the 1936 campaign was proposed today by Senator Borah.

The Idaho republican demanded what he said could be called a "revolution" unless the conservatives now in control hold a meeting at once to cooperate to that end.

In a statement commenting on a proposal of Charles D. Hillis, republican national committeeman from New York, that the party guard against reorganization, lest it result in factional chaos, Borah in effect challenged chairman Henry P. Fletcher and the Hillis group to hold a "debate" if the rank and file did not desire a change.

"I venture," he asserted, "to be long left in doubt."

Aged Mother Who Killed Son Given Death Sentence

Leeds, England, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A 62-year-old mother who painfully put to death an imbecile son because she feared a serious operation and feared she wouldn't survive, was sentenced to death today on a charge of murder.

The frail little mother, Mrs. May Brownhill of Farnal, who had devoted the last 30 years of her life to nursing the son, Denis, heard the verdict of the jury and the sentence of the judge stoically, standing with her head erect.

Asked if she wished to address the court she replied "I did it in mercy. Tears were in the eyes of many in the audience."

According to testimony at the trial the mother, upon being told she could live only six months unless she underwent a dangerous operation, put her son to bed and gave him 100 sedative tablets, then turned on the gas.

SABATH MAY BE DISPLACED AS DEAN OF HOUSE

Illinois Democratic Delegation Split On Appointments

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Contests within the Illinois Democratic delegation over appointments to more important committees loomed today as an unforeseen complication in the campaign for the election of a state delegation to the new Congress.

Illinoisans visiting the capital since election day:

1. That a well defined movement is underway to displace Chairman Sabath of Chicago, dean of the House;
2. That unless he is elected floor leader, Representative Arnold of Robinson probably will be made Sabath's successor;
3. That apparent in the tangle is a strong downstate vs. upstate feeling which may result in the newly elected Michael Lee of Chicago receiving the delegation's preference over the veteran Claude V. Parsons of Golconda for appointment to the important ways and means committee;
4. That if Lee loses the above, he might be given preference over J. Leroy Adair of Quincy for the judiciary committee appointment.

The reported conflict over the state chairmanship is rapidly coming to a head. Democratic congressmen said they must decide the issue by the end of the month so that the delegation may have its difficulties settled prior to organization of the 74th Congress Jan. 3.

Although Sabath has been credited with maintaining greater unity within the delegation than any previous chairman, some of his colleagues, rankled by what they describe as defective management of patronage and committee appointments, declared before the adjournment of the last session that they intended to displace him.

Inasmuch as Democratic seniority would place Arnold next in line, he was prominently mentioned as a logical successor. Although even Sabath's Chicago colleagues were ring leaders in the displacement movement, their realization that the position would go to a southern Illinoisan gave rise to a downstate vs. upstate contest as noticeable as that in Springfield.

However, since Arnold was first mentioned, a campaign has been started to have him elected floor leader in case Representative Byrnes (D., Tenn.), is chosen speaker to succeed the late Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton. Should this be successful, it would be necessary for Arnold to drop not only state delegation responsibilities, but also to surrender his appropriations subcommittee chairmanship.

Next in line to Arnold is Parsons, who has long been ambitious to serve on the ways and means committee, a group which not only selects committee personnel, but also has jurisdiction over all tax and revenue measures. Its members, like the speaker and floor leader, are elected in open party caucus.

Arnold's elevation to floor leadership would create another problem. Since he would drop his appropriations committee duties, it would cause a much sought after vacancy. Although not much comment has been made on the possibilities, it appeared that the newly elected James McAndrews of Chicago might be favored by his colleagues. McAndrews is described as a seasoned veteran, having served previous terms.

DENVER MINT ROBBERY HAS BEEN SOLVED

Harvey Bailey Was Driver Of Bandit Car Police Say

Denver, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Solution of the 1922 Denver mint robbery was announced tonight by police, who said Harvey Bailey, convicted kidnaper of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City millionaire, drove the motor car in which the robbers escaped with $200,000 currency snatched from guards.

Five men and two women—all of whom now are in prison or dead—were involved in the crime which has baffled the best detective minds in the country for more than a decade, chief of detectives Albert T. Clark said.

The bandit mob, chief Clark said, included:

- Bailey, serving a life sentence on America's "Devil's Island," Alcatraz prison, California, for the kidnapping of Urschel.
- Jim Clark, serving a life sentence in the Indiana state penitentiary at Michigan City for participating in a bank robbery at Clinton, Ind.
- Robert Leon Knapp, known in Denver as Robert Burns, now dead, although circumstances of his death are not fully known.
- Frank McFarland, alias "The Memphis Kid," also dead.
- Nicholas Trainor, alias Nick Sloan, whose frozen, bullet-riddled body was found in a residential garage in Denver Jan. 14, 1923, more than a month after the robbery.
- Florence Sloan, also known as Florence Thompson, the "Queen" of the mob and the consort of Trainor. She, too, is dead.
- Margaret Burns, who posed as the wife of Robert Burns, whose right name was Robert Knapp. She is dead.
- The two women were shot and.

TREASON TRIAL OPENS MONDAY AT HILLSBORO

Fourteen Men Will Face Charges Of Conspiracy

By Bill Wade
Associated Press Staff Writer
Hillsboro, Ill., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Fourteen men charged under the Illinois "treason code" with conspiracy to overthrow the government are scheduled to go on trial here Monday in Montgomery county circuit court.

The fourteen jailed last June "to show radicals law and order must prevail," were released recently on $4500 bonds after several months in the county jail. Their arrests followed a series of relief demonstrations here and at Nokomis.

Authorities charge the fourteen were ringleaders in alleged conspiracies resulting in the unemployed disturbances. Defendants assert, however, that the charges were "trumped up" against them and the arrests illegal.

"All we did," one of them said, "was participate in several peaceful demonstrations asking for more relief, and got tear gas instead."

Mob Disturbance

But turbulent events led up to the arrests. State's Attorney George A. Hall declared. These included a "mob" disturbance that disrupted a meeting of the Nokomis city council and picketing of relief officials' homes, he said.

Since then Nokomis townspeople and nearby farmers have banded together into a vigilante organization to promote "peace and law enforcement."

Technically, the defendants are charged under the state law with conspiracy to overthrow the government and conspiracy to incite a riot, punishable by prison sentences up to ten years.

Actually, Hall said, arrests were made for the purpose of "quieting down the county—to show the radical."

SOVIET LEADER IS KILLED BY AN ASSASSIN

Sergei M. Kiroff Is Shot At Committee Headquarters

By Charles Stephenson Smith
(Copyright, 1934.
By the Associated Press)
Moscow, Dec. 1.—An assassin who the Soviet government asserted was "sent by enemies of the working class" today shot and killed Sergei Mironovich Kiroff, revolutionist for 30 of his 46 years a member of the communist party's political bureau.

The assassin, who slew Kiroff in the party committee headquarters at Leningrad, was captured by Soviet police. Despite the questioning to which he was submitted, he still had not been identified last tonight.

As one of the elite members of the political bureau which makes the decision on policy unfailingly followed by the government, Kiroff belonged to what is generally regarded as the most powerful body in the Soviet republic.

He also was secretary of the Communist party's central committee, from which the political committee is appointed, and the most influential party member in Leningrad, headquarters of the Bolshevik party until it moved to Moscow.

Tonight the Soviet was preparing to bury the slain leader with all honors. A committee was immediately appointed to make the arrangements for his funeral, which will be held in Red Square December 6.

The assassination, the government announced, occurred at 4:30 p. m. Russian time (7:30 A. M. central standard time) today in the Lenin committee headquarters, the former Smolny Institute in which girls of the aristocracy were educated during the Czarist regime.

In that historic building, too, the constituent assembly met in 1918, to be dissolved by the Bolsheviks.

FORMER HEAD OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN LIFE INSURANCE CO. BELIEVED MURDERED

STATE EMPLOYE ON PAYROLL 41 YEARS, FIRED

Walter Rundle Says He Will Be Back In 1937

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Walter S. Rundle, who has spent 41 of his 71 years as an employee of the state of Illinois, lost his job today as guard and messenger in the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes.

The veteran state employee received notice that he would be dropped from the payroll as of Dec. 15 but that he would not be required to report for work in the meantime.

Rundle, who entered the state service from Macomb in 1899, has lost his job twice before. He is a Republican. When the Democrats came into power in 1903 he was dropped. He returned to his job during the succeeding Republican administration. Again, in 1913, after the Bull Moose split resulted in the election of a Democratic state administration, he lost out but returned to his post in the following Republican administration.

Will Be Back

Today as he told of his 41 years in actual service, he said: "I'll be back on the job in 1937 when the Republicans succeed the Democrats again."

He said that when he "returns in 1937 the job should be good for another 20 years," the span between the three Democratic administrations the state has had since the Civil War.

Rundle first came to Springfield as an appointee of the late Isaac N. Pierson, who was secretary of state. His appointment was obtained by former U. S. Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, then beginning his political career at Macomb as county judge. Rundle had been a member of the convention at which Sherman was nominated for the judicial post.

Twenty-two of the 41 years he has worked for the state were spent in the secretary of state's office and the remaining 19 in the treasurer's office.

As messenger for various secretaries of state he estimates he has carried more than $300,000,000 in cash and checks to banks for deposit.

"But I came here in 1899," he said, "and five women worked in the state house. Today there are at least 700. In 1899 there weren't more than 150 people employed in the state house. Now, there must be 1,500 state employees in the city."

Rundle, a widower, will return to Macomb. There he will reside until 1937, he says, when he plans to return to Springfield to his old job.

The Democrats, he claims, "are a one-term party and the Republicans will be back in '37."

Talk Won't Be So Cheap Around The New White House

Washington, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Talk won't be so cheap around the white house press room hereafter.

A free public telephone, once in almost constant use has failed to reappear in the resplendent corner quarters accorded the press in the newly rebuilt executive offices. A nickel pay station stands in its place.

White house attaches wouldn't comment, but it was presumed that economy was the reason. When the free telephone was in use each conversation cost the government about three cents. The phone bill was said to have been in excess of $1,000 annually.

HAD ONE BULLET HOLE IN TEMPLE; PISTOL IN HAND

Officers Claim Seven Bullets Fired Into Interior Of Car

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 1.—(AP)—M. B. Hill, deposed chairman of the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance company, was found shot to death tonight—slain, authorities said, by assassins who pressed a revolver into his hand to make it appear a suicide.

With the positive assertion of deputy coroner H. P. Butler that Hill was slain, authorities sought a possible connection between his death and a recently uncovered bank swindle plot.

Hill, a bullet in one temple which showed a powder burn was slumped in the driver's seat, clutching a pistol. But deputy sheriff said at least seven bullets had been fired from the outside into the machine, passing through the rear window and the left side window.

Three bullets were discovered imbedded in the interior of the car but investigators, after a cursory examination, announced they were of different caliber than those in the weapon which the dead man grasped.

Auto Speeded Away

Sheriff's officers announced that from a source they would not disclose they had learned that a second automobile was observed driving away from the vicinity of Hill's parked machine immediately before the body was found.

Deputy Sheriff C. H. Redpath said he saw indications, the nature of which were not revealed, that a second man may have been in the machine with Hill. This man may have fired the fatal shot and planted the gun in the lifeless hand, Redpath said. Investigators said, however, these facts were not conclusive evidence of murder.

Officers said powder burns surrounded Hill's temple wounds.

Hill's deposition as chairman of the company he had headed for a number of years came after disclosures in Chicago that a group headed by Joseph Bailet had attempted to purchase controlling interest in it for the alleged purpose of carrying out a widespread conspiracy to dispose of stolen securities at a handsome profit.

Joseph Bailet, the alleged ringleader of the Chicago group, has been held in the Cook county jail since his arrest a week ago. He had been held first on charges of conspiracy to swindle the Algonquin Trust and Savings Bank there of $54,000.

The whole plot, according to Chicago authorities, came to light when a bank clerk confessed he had aided Bailet and his associates, who assertedly included Dave (Long Count) Barry, to swindle the Chicago bank. Part of the money obtained, Cook county authorities said, was used to make the first payment on the insurance company stock.

Hill had been reputedly the majority stockholder of the Abraham Lincoln company and authorities who investigated its "sale" absolved him of any knowledge of the alleged Bailet plot.

Hayden Sanders, who became secretary of the company after Bailet's friends bought control, is among those in custody in Chicago. Sought over several middle west states is Gustav Lindquist, a former partner who became president of the Abraham Lincoln company after it was "acquired" by Bailet.

Between 50 and 60 years of age, Hill had come here 15 years ago as general agent for another insurance company. With several friends he organized the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance company and built it up over a period of years into a company with $15,000,000 in admitted assets and $80,000,000 in policies in force.

He had tried to dispose of his interest in the company at least once previous to its "sale" to the Bailet group. Some months ago German interests of Kansas City acquired the company only to have the sale later vacated by the Illinois state insurance director. A suit is now pending in Kansas City whereby the local congressional seeks $13,500 paid out to the Kansas City men while they held executive offices with the Abraham Lincoln Co.

After the fiasco of the later Chicago "sale," a preliminary contract whereby the Illinois Bankers Life Assurance company of Monmouth took over the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance Co., was announced by Insurance Director Palmer. Palmer in a letter to policy holders of the local company a few days later said that the brief contract was null and void.

ELEVEN PERSONS ARE QUESTIONED BY U. S. AGENTS

Were Arrested at Isolated House in Kinney, Neb.; May Be Bank Robbers

Beatrice, Neb., Dec. 1.—(AP)—An all day effort to identify the body of a man mortally wounded in a raid on an isolated house in Kinney, Neb., culminated in the announcement tonight by authorities that the man was Earl Keeling, alias Broadwell, one of four men who robbed the Security National bank of Superior of $7,929 last November 22.

WOMAN SUICIDES

Harrisburg, Ill., Dec. 1.—(AP)—The body of Sarah Penfold, 83, was found in a well here today, five minutes after she was missed by her nurse. Authorities expressed a belief ill-health had caused her to commit suicide.

33RD DIVISION VETERANS NAME NEW OFFICERS

Phil T. Duff of Chicago Is Elected President; 1935 Meet to Chicago

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Phil T. Duff, of Chicago, a distinguished service cross winner, late today was elected president of the 33rd Division War Veterans association, succeeding Capt. Charles B. Dickerson of Aurora.

Chicago was chosen as the 1935 reunion city. A resolution was adopted also giving Chicago the association's every odd numbered year, the others to be held downstate. Dante and Galesburg were bidders for the 1936 gathering.

Other officers elected in the closing business session were: First vice-president, John Morgan, Chicago; second vice president, William DeBary, Peoria; third vice president, Ray Nutter, Chicago; William Keith, Chicago, was reappointed secretary.

The convention adopted unanimously a resolution calling for immediate full cash payment of the soldiers' cash bonus to all veterans and rescission of interest due on all outstanding adjusted compensation loans.

Congressman Everett M. Dirksen, Peoria, Ill., told the veterans he would vote to override any presidential veto of a bill calling for cash payment without interest deduction of a soldier's bonus.

He said if veterans received their bonus in full without any additional taxes being levied against the state, it would be the first time in the history of the country the payment of taxes will be less than the amount received by the government from the state.

Dirksen spoke in place of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden who was reported suffering from a severe cold.

RUSSELL SWIGER IS CONVICTED

Zanesville, O., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Ignoring a plea of an attractive radio entertainer to spare his life, a jury in common pleas court today condemned Russell Swiger, 21, to die in Ohio's electric chair.

It was the second trial of the youth who confessed he killed Harold Fleming, 18, in a filling station holdup that netted him $18. A previous jury, after hearing Miss Grace Mitchell of Pittsburgh, the entertainer, had disagreed after 33 hours of deliberation. Defense Attorney A. A. George said he would file a motion for a new trial on grounds of error on Monday. It will be argued Tuesday. If it is overruled, Swiger will be sentenced to death Wednesday.

VISITS RELATIVES HERE

Whitcomb Riley, of Keokuk, Iowa, has returned home after spending Thanksgiving with relatives and friends in Jacksonville.

California Officials Have Ended Their Investigation Of Babes-In-Woods Mystery

Roseville, Calif., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Officials here ended their investigation of the Pennsylvania babes-in-the-woods mystery tonight after disclosing they had conducted a secret inquiry to determine whether the tragedy had been something other than a case of slaying and suicide.

Police said a check had been made on relatives here after the identities of the five victims had been determined but that nothing had been found to change previous theories on the deaths of Elmo J. Noakes, 32; his niece, Winifred Pierce, 18, and his three children, Norma, 13, Dwella, 11, and Cordelia, 8.

The inquiry, police said, proved false a report that one of the relatives had been out of town two weeks and had returned here last Thursday, a week after the time fixed for the killing of the Noakes children in Pennsylvania.

The relatives, their homes separated by several streets, apparently kept to themselves today, the Pierce faction on one side and the Gibby-Chaffin family on the other, each blaming the other for "driving Elmo out of town."

Bitter hostility between members of Noakes family and that of Miss Pierce was disclosed last night. Counter charges were flung that Noakes fled from town because of strained feelings between his sisters, one of whom, married to Hugh Pierce, was the mother of Winifred. The enmity culminated yesterday in the issuance of a warrant by Russell Pierce charging his aunt, Mrs. Kate Gibby and Mrs. Winifred Chaffin, with disturbing the peace in attempting to see Mrs. Pierce, the third sister. Mrs. Gibby and Mrs. Chaffin were given a suspended sentence of 90 days with the understanding they would have nothing to do with Mrs. Pierce.

An investigation disclosed the issuance of three insurance policies upon the children last September and a change of beneficiary in group insurance policy of $800 which Noakes carried with a company for which he worked. Police said the beneficiary was changed from the children to Mrs. Pierce.

Carlisle, Pa., Dec. 1.—(AP)—In the Blue Ridge Mountains, where they were found in death a week ago, the three girls in Pennsylvania's "babes in the woods" tragedy were buried today, as state police announced the investigation of the five deaths in the case is largely over.

At the same time, authorities already convinced the victims of the case were Elmo Noakes, of Roseville, Calif., his niece, Winifred Pierce, 18, and his three little daughters, refused further proof of the identification tonight in photographs sent from the California state highway patrol.

After looking at pictures of Noakes and the children, Cordelia, 8; Dwella, 10, and Norma, 12, Major C. M. Wilhelm, of the state police, said there was no doubt the children found dead here and the man, discovered shot to death with a woman in a shack near Duncanville, were the persons of the photographs.

Babes in The Woods

The bodies of three small girls, found on a mountain side in Pennsylvania a week ago, were buried Saturday. At first their identity was a mystery, but now it is known they were children of a California man, whose body was found with that of his niece in a lonely flag station in Pennsylvania about 100 miles from where the girls had been left.

Family trouble is coming to light. Poverty overtook the five travelers in their wild dash across the continent, and it is believed they all perished in an orgy of murder and suicide. It is a tragic story.

Such untimely deaths are sad, making the observer feel that lives of great promise may have been snuffed out. Those girls might have grown to womanhood to make the world better than they found it. That would, of course, be the Christian ideal.

But what little is now known of their environment and the circumstances of their journey from California does not hold out such promise for the girls. They seem to have had a poor start in life, and if poverty and lack of opportunity were all they could expect, their deaths now may have averted greater tragedy for them later. Unfortunately not all people, even in a so-called Christian nation, are born into an environment where they can have the advantage of Christian ideals of living.

The Pennsylvania tragedy is more than the result of a family feud; it is a product of American civilization; it is only one of the many such tragedies that have been occurring in this country the past five years. The sheer inability of human beings to adjust themselves to the conditions economic and social, imposed by an imperfect society is largely responsible for such incidents in the drama of life.

Convict Shoots Quail

In the state of Oklahoma, under the decree of the picturesque Governor Bill Murray, Matt Kimes is shooting quail this week-end. Matt is a convict serving a life term in the state penitentiary. He and his gang were responsible for at least nine murders in Oklahoma, several of them with officers as victims. He was sentenced to life imprisonment for one killing. A group of his associates rescued him from a county jail.

He continued his criminal career and killed another officer. This time he got another life sentence, which he has been serving. But Governor Murray let him out for a vacation as a reward for "good behavior." Evidently the Governor knows little of this man's behavior, except during the time he has been in the state prison.

It is little wonder the American penal system is the laughingstock of the world. England has sentenced a woman to death for killing her impetuous son when she thought she was going to die and leave him to the mercy of the world. Oklahoma gives a man life imprisonment for murder in cold blood and then gives him a vacation over Thanksgiving. Kimes should have done his stuff in England, and the woman killer should have been in the United States.

Mice Come Home

Now is the time for every mouse and rat to seek winter quarters. When it gets cold they come in from the fields and take lodgment in the barns and houses of mankind to do their share of the $200,000,000 damages annually charged up to rats and mice.

The first evidence of their presence may be a ruined cake or pie. To the farmer it will be gnawed ears of corn in the crib. The pattering and squealing of the rodent may be heard at night when the house is quiet. A mouse rattling around in a waste paper basket can make enough noise to give the household a most uneasy feeling. A mouse in the clothes closet may send the housewife to a convenient bed or table. A trap in the same closet is likely to send the mouse to cheese heaven.

In fact traps set at convenient places will exterminate the pests as quick as anything. There is something of finality in the snap of a trap in a dark room. Hearing it, one comes to the conclusion that a very definite thing has been accomplished. There is a feeling of relief, but also a reminder that in the morning that mouse has to be extricated from the trap, a very unpleasant business.

One House or Two?

The title may not be exactly grammatical, but it suggests that states now contemplating adoption of the one-house legislature should pause awhile and reflect whether they desire to abandon a plan which was instituted with the idea of distributing power so that it could not be abused.

It was meant that the Senate should serve as a check on the House of Representatives, and vice versa. It was planned that the lower house should represent the people, while the upper house should represent territory. The people were to have control of the purse strings thru origin of revenue bills in the lower house. Both houses were to serve as a check on the executive.

The unicameral system is a centralization of power and a delegation of power by the people. It is merely another step toward abolition of democracy. It is argued that the cost of law-making is high but it has never reached the proportions of law administration. The waste of the taxpayers' money is centered largely in the executive branch of the government, and not in the legislative.

It would be much easier for the executive to dictate to one house and to control its actions. It would be less easy for the people to get a hearing and obtain representation. It seems already fairly easy for an executive to crack a whip over a legislature and get from it everything he wants. Why make it any easier for dictators?

Before Nebraska has a chance to try the unicameral plan, California and Iowa seek its adoption. Would it not be advisable to wait awhile and see how it works. The way the American people have been throwing away democratic institutions that have stood the test of years makes conservatives tremble and wonder if the generations of the future will not regret the changes those of today seem to be willing to make without much thought.

World's all Right

From The Beardstown Illinoisian-Star
The broker, down on his luck, and financially involved by reverses, leaps out of a window and gets a couple of twelve line paragraphs in the newspapers.

The little girls, homeless and destitute, are found dead on a barren mountain side, miles away from the main arteries of travel, and the scenes of everyday activities. Newspapers from coast to coast print columns and columns, of the details of the mystery of their identity, and the tragedy of their deaths.

The broker, who is "busted" and "couldn't take it" is of little public interest, compared to the tragedy of the three helpless little tots.

Adversity that destroys the desire to live, or the possibility of living, awakens our sympathy, but so long as we are equally or more concerned over the fate of the helpless, friendless little child, in contrast to him of erstwhile wealth and influence, our sympathy is not misdirected, and the world's all right!

Washington—The impending naval race will cost the taxpayers so much money that they at least ought to know what they're getting for it.

They won't find out in the official reports from Washington or the London preliminary naval conference. But here's the situation.

Japan demands naval parity with the United States and Britain because she intends to have a free hand in Asia. She is going to dominate China and plans commercial expansion over a wide sphere.

Although in case of war she is in no danger of attack by an American or British navy acting alone, she fears that the two English-speaking nations might some day merge or threaten to merge their fleets against her.

Such a combination now would mean a 10-3 ratio against Japan. Parity would mean only a 10-5 ratio and Japan, thanks to her geographical location, would feel fairly safe with that. So she plans to bust the 5-5-3 Washington treaty.

You can just forget the story that Japan's demands are inspired by national pride.

Worried by British Move

Our government is now making strenuous bids for a naval understanding with England. The theory here is that we must have that or embark on a huge naval building program.

High officials in State and Navy departments were jittery as Britain began making vague compromise offers to the Japanese at London and are correspondingly elated now that Japan has turned them down.

Our admirals can't understand why the British, with a Far Eastern commercial stake far larger than ours, aren't anxious to join hands with us in a common policy and a definite naval understanding as to Japan.

But some of the very best guessers believe Britain won't play ball. In the first place, our negotiators couldn't promise that we would join her in case she were fighting Japan, as Congress wouldn't stand for it.

England Plays Safe

For 10 years, England has been balancing between France and Germany, now favoring one and then the other. This attitude of independence seems to be her favorite role. And it's at least likely that she will now let the naval situation drift along, being friendly to us without antagonizing Japan.

Now as to our own position: The American navy can easily protect the coasts, Alaska, the Panama Canal, and Hawaii, in the event of war with Japan. But not our interests in the Philippines or the Far East.

Open Door Big Issue

Our navy is far from strong enough to cross the Pacific and successfully attack Japan and no one has yet proposed an expansion program, which would give us that strength. (Whether we need a navy three or five times as strong as the Japanese to fight so far away from home is a matter of argument.)

Hence, parity for Japan wouldn't essentially change the situation.

State Department folks privately agree with this, except for the insistence that the 5-5-3 ratio acts as a certain check on Japan in her raids on China. (Maybe you hadn't noticed it!) The Open Door policy, national prestige, and trade opportunities enter the scene at this point.

Secretary Hull, as a congressman, opposed the Washington Treaty in 1922 because it gave up our Far Eastern naval bases. He isn't saying so publicly, but the Open Door is a sacred principle with him and he seems to feel that America's destiny lies in the Far East, with its hundreds of millions of Chinese and other customers.

Cost Goes Soaring

Roosevelt also believes in a strong navy, so it's possible to predict a definite American policy of preserving the present ratio. New American naval ships cost 48 million dollars in the fiscal year 1933. 77 millions in 1934, and are costing 182 millions this fiscal year—of which 129 came from P.W.A.

Next year's appropriations will run between 200 and 300 millions and we'll be still within treaty limits.

Most of our capital ships will have reached the "age limit" by 1936 and they cost about $50,000,000 apiece. No one can guess the added cost of a naval race with Japan in which we would build about two ships to her one.

The best hope for the taxpayers seems to rest in the lingering suspicion here that Japan may, after all, be bluffing and won't enter such a race. That suspicion isn't anywhere near as strong as it was.

"Zeba" and "Cain, the Sixth" in a Scene in "Green Pastures"

Deep in the almost inaccessible bayou districts of the Old South there are Negro spirituals seldom heard elsewhere. Fervent in their religious significance, they are so primitive that they could almost be sung to the boom of jungle drums.

The white man hears this style of singing only on rare occasions, but "The Green Pastures," which comes to the Fox Illinois Theatre, December 10th, relies on these ancient Negro songs for much of its effect.

Woven into the brilliant fabric of the play and sung by the renowned Hall Johnson's "Heavenly Choir," the spirituals in "The Green Pastures" cast a spell unique in the history of the American theatre. One drama critic states that the music of this play is "so lovely and so poignant in devout praise and said yearning, that even the blind can be exalted by a trip to 'The Green Pastures.'"

Because of the beauty and power with which it is presented, there is one scene which has been singled out for special praise during the amazing four-year run of this Pulitzer prize comedy-drama. It is the scene in which Moses, having led the Chilion of Israel through the desert for forty years, is succumbing to old age at the very gates of the Promised Land. The shouts of the Hebrews of Jericho can be heard clearly as "de Lawd" leads Moses up to Heaven, and then, almost lifting the listener out of his chair by its superb timing and absolute power, the choir sings "Joshua fit de Battle of Jericho." If there is a greater master stroke in the literature of opera, it does not readily come to mind.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier:

Beverly Hills, Calif.—When you don't know what to write, or talk about, you can always resort to two subjects, weddings, and inflation. I once heard Lady Astor say "Only two things get the house of lords excited, a tax on liquor, and a tax on landed estates, then the old lords really come to life."

Well about the only time you can get our "big houses of finance" interested is to start talking about cutting that dollar up into little ones. The big fellows say, "Mr. Roosevelt we think you mean well, but your ideas are wrong, we are not going to play with you."

He can say, "I am sorry gentlemen, love to have you with me, in fact I think you are still playing with me, it's a game called heavy, heavy, hands over your head, and its not an axe, its just a printing press which stops all government interest, dont slam the door as you go out." (Copyright, 1934)

Currents in the News

An out of town speaker addressing the Rotary club declared that the American railroads could be the means of bringing back prosperity if they would re-employ the 800,000 discharged men and start paying dividends. Such a remark brings back memories of the Jacksonville car shops and what the monthly pay roll of the shops meant to the business interests of the city. Some of the old time railroad prosperity would certainly be welcome in Jacksonville.

A big area roundup for Boy Scouts of Mascoutah area has been announced. The Boy Scout movement has always meant a great deal to the youth of the city and Scout troops have flourished with a fine spirit of rivalry existing among members.

Former Local Lady Tells of Work with Near East Refugees

A letter has been received here from Mrs. Priscilla Capps Hill, who is director of the Near East Industries in Greece. She attended Illinois College in 1918-19 and later went to Athens to work with the Near East relief organization. She has been in the work ever since. She is a niece of Mrs. C. H. Rammelkamp.

Mrs. Hill writes interestingly of her work. A portion of her letter reads as follows:

"We employ about 500 women, all of them refugees from the Smyrna disaster—and all of whom depend on us to give them their daily living. We have about 250 old women who spin our thread for us. They learned to spin as children, when all the material they wore and used was made in their own homes—and now they are able to turn this accomplishment to good use and bring into the son's or daughter's household enough money to supply food for themselves and perhaps for the others. These old people are so pathetic, sent in old age from everything familiar into a strange land without property or possessions or means of any sort. I don't know which are most pathetic—those that have outlived their children and are now alone, trying to find enough work to keep themselves alive—usually feeble and disabled by rheumatism—or those who live on a burden and care to their poverty-stricken households."

"Two hundred and fifty of these are given some measure of independence by our work—because the American women like the embroidered articles which we make on handwoven raw silk, and so we can have the silk spun by these old ladies. Of all those I work with, I love these the best because they are so grateful and appreciative, so anxious to do well—and, usually, so very skillful at this old art."

Women Work in Cellars
"When we get our silk thread spun, we weave it—and we have more old ladies, fewer this time, to work on our sixteen looms. A few others who have enough to keep their family of six from starvation but who is grateful for that little. It's a great privilege to me to be able to help those people."

THEATER ART DISCUSSED AT A. A. U. W. MEET

F. Cowles Strickland of St. Louis Addresses University Women

"Art is a language of the emotions. Language, which means somebody talking to somebody and being understood, is the important word in the foregoing definition. Emotion will follow naturally. No great thought, no new theory of life, no new intellectual process is necessary." Thus ran the remarks of F. Cowles Strickland, director of the Little Theater, St. Louis, guest speaker at the December meeting of the Jacksonville branch of the American Association of University Women, Saturday afternoon in Baxter Hall at 3 o'clock.

Dean Clara B. Williams, president of the organization, presided and introduced the speaker to a company of 125 members and guests.

Mr. Strickland spoke at length on the art of the theater. It is a strange business even today, though many barriers have been broken down, he said. In the realm of art and music, opinions formed are individual, but in the theater the audience forms a mass opinion.

The main problem arising in presenting a play is making the audience form an ultimate and immediate opinion. The appreciation of the playwright can wait for several generations. The play and the actor cannot. It is necessary to climax everything to the opening night. The question then arises—does an audience really know anything about a play? Many people think they must go to the theater in order to think.

If a play makes you feel, not think, then it is a good play. It is the job of the playwright to make the audience feel. In past years people have felt they should show no feelings in the presence of others. Emotion was carried on only behind closed doors and then with a certain degree of self-consciousness. Mr. Strickland asserted that this idea is entirely wrong. We should go to the theater to be stirred.

These moments of feeling in the theater are rare. Playwrights write sometimes for show only. In other cases the audience does not see and realize the point. Then comes the question—should the actor do the feeling for the audience? Is he able? The speaker brightened his remarks with several illustrations and bits of acting.

As a concluding point, Mr. Strickland said, "Go to the theater to be stirred. Don't be afraid of your own emotions. Risk them. They will do no harm."

The delightful program was arranged under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Fay, chairman of the program committee.

Following the program, coffee was served in the lounge. Mrs. H. C. Jaquith was in charge of the social hour. Assistant hostesses were: Mrs. Garm Norbury, Mrs. F. Oxtoby, Mrs. LaRue VanMeter, Mrs. Francis Rantz, Miss Charlotte Ryan, Mrs. J. P. Langton, Miss Irene Merrill, Mrs. Ernest Savage and Mrs. J. P. Smith.

Handel's Messiah

Will Be Rendered

Here December 23

Handel's immortal "Messiah" has become an annual event in the Central Christian church of Jacksonville. This year on the evening of December 23, the presentation will include a more varied program than ever before.

Mrs. Helen Brown Read, whose success, as a conductor, has been attested many times in Jacksonville, also in other cities, will direct this production. The "Messiah," Handel's most successful and best known oratorio, was composed in 1741. His formation and emotional powers are derived from the spirit of the epoch in which he lived. "That which is exalted over time and place remains as eternal gain; and another generation finds new treasures." What its creations bring to new generations is the unfailing criterion of true greatness.

The solo parts will be taken by the following musicians: Soprano, Mrs. Francis Flouer; contralto, Mrs. Mabel Mathews Gregory; tenors, Mr. Lowell Henry and Mr. Howard Foster; bass, Mr. De Vere Brockhouse. The chorus will be composed of fine voices including many soloists well known in Jacksonville.

Miss Alice Mathis will be at the organ. The personnel of the chorus will be announced at a later date.

John Andrews Dies in Jersey County

Jerseyville—John Andrews, Sr., father of Night Officer John E. Andrews of Jerseyville, died very suddenly Thanksgiving Day at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edith Morgan in Rosedale.

The deceased had not been well for some time but his condition was not thought to be serious. About five-thirty o'clock Thanksgiving afternoon he was stricken and died before a physician could reach him.

Coroner William Hopper conducted an inquest Friday afternoon and the verdict was that death was the result of natural causes, probable acute dilation of the heart.

Mr. Andrews was the son of the late Joel and Elizabeth Winchester Andrews, and was born in Quincy, Ill., Feb. 17, 1858. At the time of his death he was seventy-six years of age.

Surviving the deceased are one son, Officer John Andrews; two daughters, Mrs. Edith Morgan and Mrs. Elsie Kohnstopp both of Rosedale.

Funeral services will be held from the Jacoby Brothers Funeral Chapel to the Rosedale Methodist church on Sunday, December 2nd, at 2:30 o'clock.

Rev. P. L. Glottelty will officiate and interment will be in the Rosedale cemetery.

Urges Japanese New Officers Will Assume Duties at Court House Dec. 3

New faces will make their appearance in several offices at the court house Monday. That is the day when newly elected officials take over their duties and they will be accompanied into office by newly selected assistants. The changes will extend to the county jail where a new set of employees will be in charge.

At the office of County Clerk P. W. Brockhouse, who was reelected, the staff will remain the same with addition of one new deputy, yet to be selected. Miss Helen Ehlert is serving temporarily as a stenographer in the clerk's office.

County Clerk Brockhouse expects in the near future to name a deputy to take the place left vacant by Kenneth Woods, who will assume the office of sheriff.

County Judge William E. Thomson who will succeed James M. Barnes, expects to have an office in the court house in the room where the National Reemployment Service is now located. The reemployment office will be moved to a basement location, which has been decorated ready for the occupants.

Further north down the corridor a new face already is seen in the county commissioners' office, Commissioner Walter Fearnough having entered upon his duties about a week ago.

The entire force at the sheriff's office Monday will be new. Sheriff Woods succeeds Fletcher J. Blackburn, taking into the office an entirely new staff consisting of Wiley Cook, Charles Wegelhoff and Clinton Strowmatt. He has not yet announced the appointment of a chief deputy.

William H. Self, the new assessor and treasurer, will return to the office Monday in which he already has had considerable experience. Mr. Self will announce the selection of an assistant at a later date.

Victor H. Sheppard, superintendent of schools-elect, will not assume office until next August.

The janitors who take charge of the court house Monday are John T. Roach and Essie Braum, with Mrs. William Pitts as matron of the women's rest room.

D. M. Cooper will become the new turnkey at the county jail, with Harvey Story as helper. All of the newly elected county officials are Democrats with exception of Commissioner Fearnough, who rode out the landslide on the Republican ticket.

Wind Damages Roof at State Hospital

The high wind that visited this city Friday did some damage. The worst was reported from the Jacksonville state hospital, where the violent wind carried away four squares of tin from the roof of the main building. The portion of roof removed was on the south side of the west wing of the large structure.

The damage extended over a considerable space. Workmen got busy at once and in a few hours the roof was repaired. No other great damage was reported in the community, though several signs were blown down and loose articles were moved about.

Motorists had difficulty in keeping their cars on the highways, but no accidents were reported. The biting wind found its way into closed cars and made riding anything but a pleasure.

Associated Press Selects All Americans For Season; Pick Six Men From 3 Teams

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York—(P)—As seemingly befits the performance of the three outstanding college football teams of the 1934 season, the individual stars of Minnesota, Alabama and Stanford capture the major portion of the annual Associated Press consensus selections.

Each of these tremendously powerful aggregations, dominant in their own gridiron ballistics, gains two places on the all-star eleven. The remaining five positions go to individual heroes of North Carolina, Rice Institute, Texas Christian, Pittsburgh and the Naval Academy after one of the keenest battles ever waged for membership on the football roll of honor. Despite Minnesota's clear-cut ranking as the nation's No. 1 college team by an overwhelming vote of the experts and a substantial preponderance of evidence, sectional honors pass from the Midwest to the South, which combines with the rugged Southwest sector to land a leading share of all-America places for the first time in history. The first eleven includes three from the Old South, besides two from the Texas area and two each from the East, the Midwest and the Pacific Coast.

These Galloping Gophers
Magnificent team performances, such as those registered by Minnesota, Pittsburgh, Alabama and Stanford—the nation's "Big Four"—as well as by Ohio State, Rice, Colgate, Temple, Columbia and Louisiana State all were due to the combination of splendid material, spirited teamwork and fine coaching.

Nowhere in the country was the pace any swifter or the sectional battle any harder fought than in the Southwest. Such great teams as Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas rose to heights of inter-sectional conquest "on the road," only to be topped in their own backyards by outcasts that refused to be impressed by reputations or past performances. Similarly in the East, which also produced an exceptional number of outstanding teams this year, the fratricidal strife was conspicuous with Navy, Syracuse and Princeton all being knocked from the unbeaten ranks on one afternoon.

Just One Minnesota
Although Minnesota's Lund, captain and individual dynamo of the team, and Frank (Butch) Larson, a great end, are the choices for first all-America honors this year, the Galloping Gophers are considered by many unprejudiced observers as the nation's all-star aggregation, in toto. Among the teams Minnesota has played, only Pittsburgh can offer anything resembling a rebuttal. Against the Panthers, who led the Gophers for three periods, Bill Bevan was an all-America guard and Stan Kostka an all-America fullback. On other occasions, the flashy Julius Alphonse and the two Minnesota tackles, Benadon and Widest, the latter one of the year's sophomore sensations, were outstanding but over the stretch of probably the greatest campaign in Gopher history the laurels go mainly to Lund, now a two-time all-America ace, and the brilliant Larson.

Lund, for purposes of balancing the mythical lineup, occupies the fullback position in a backfield combination consisting otherwise of Stanford's Crayson, the best all-around back on the Pacific Coast; Fred (Buz) Borries, the Navy's superlative passing and running back; and William (Bill) Wallace, triple threat ace of the Southwest and sparkplug of the Rice team.

All four of these stars had consistently great seasons against the toughest kind of opposition. Injuries forced Crayson to yield the spotlight in the coast's "big game" to Arleigh Williams, brilliant California back, but the Stanford star was the better player over the route. Borries was the spearhead of the Navy attack that licked such fine teams as Columbia and Notre Dame. Even in the Navy's rout at the hands of Pittsburgh's powerhouse, Borries stood out and further coaches paid him the tribute of being the best back they encountered all season. Wallace outscored a flock of fine backs, including Purvis and Carter of Purdue, Hilliard of Texas and Wilson of Southern Methodist, besides putting up an heroic performance in his team's first defeat at the hands of Texas Christian's stalwarts.

Berwanger Back
There's not much margin, however, between these four and the second team backfield combination of Williams, Jay Berwanger of Chicago, Dixie Howell of Alabama and Izzy Weinstock, Pittsburgh's great back. Williams like Grayson, is given the quarterback position, not alone because versatility makes it easy for them to take over the role of team direction, but because of a decided dearth otherwise of outstanding quarterbacks. But for injuries that kept him out of the Ohio State game altogether and helped shackle his performances against Minnesota and Illinois, Chicago's Berwanger would have deserved a place in any all-America lineup.

It's difficult to omit the spectacular Howell from the top-ranking line-up, which already includes two of his team-mates in Captain Bill Lee at tackle and Don Hutson at end. Alabama's tremendous attacking power, generated by a wonderful line, was centered around Howell, a great passing, kicking and running back. He stands out, in the South, with Monk Simons of Tulane and Abe Mickel of Louisiana State.

Three of the East's standout teams—Pittsburgh, Colgate and Princeton, each possess enough backfield talent to equip two of three more outfits. As a consequence, few stood out consistently although Izzy Weinstock played for Pitt, along with the shifty Mike Nickels and the resourceful Miller Minjas, a superb kicker. Princeton's speedy Garry LeVan was the best of the Tiger ball-carriers, while Kern, Marty McDonough and Don (Bill) Irwin alternated in featuring Colgate's dazzling attack.

Good Backs Plentiful
Warner is convinced he has a successor to such heroic figures as Jim Thorpe and Ernie Nevers in Dave Smukler, sophomore fullback of the unbeaten Temple team. High praise went to such other outstanding eastern backs as Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland and Alphonse (Tuffy) Lee of George Washington University, with many capital city crides around each of these stars the all-around squad of Navy's Borries.

Two of last year's all-America aces, Jack Buckner of the Army and Cotton Warburton of Southern California, dropped from the top-ranking list after displaying rare ability. Warburton, who star obscured on a losing team, was rated by some coast observers as even better than in 1933. Buckner, handicapped by a leg injury, nevertheless continued to carry the brunt of an Army attack that lost some of the sharpness it showed last year.

Other backfield men who earned high recommendations during the season include Christofferson of Washington State, the versatile Hawaiian; White of the Colorado Aggies; Schroeder of Santa Clara, Hamilton of Stanford, Whitehead of Yale, Switzer of Cornell, Cardwell of Nebraska, Clark of the Navy, and Shakespeare of Notre Dame.

The battle for end positions was won by Minnesota's rangy Larson and Alabama's brilliant Hutson, acclaimed the best of a long line of all-star southern flankmen, only after a close three-cornered race in which James (Monk) Moscrop, Stanford junior, supplied chief opposition. Moscrop outranked all the ends on the west coast by a wide margin, including Brick Morse of Oregon, but he lacks the experience of Hutson and Larson, two of the main reasons for the big seasons enjoyed by Alabama and Minnesota. Hutson, a speed merchant, was a constant threat as ball-carrier as well as a sensational pass receiver.

The east contributed a number of fine ends to the debate, with Lester Borden of Fordham perhaps the best of the lot. Colgate had two splendid wingmen in Bogdanoff and Billings. Princeton's Hugh MacMillan combined punting with a good job on the end of the line. Larry Kelley, Yale sophomore, rose to spectacular heights as a pass-catcher and defensive blocker. He has been tagged for future all-America delivery. Chase of Columbia, Erdelatz of St. Mary's, Shuler of Army, Redding of North Carolina State, Goodwin of West Virginia, and Valro of Notre Dame turned in some excellent performances on the flanks

The all-America line packs plenty of driving force with Alabama's Bill Lee and Bob Reynolds, Stanford star, at the tackle positions. Each scales around 220, looming above a field that is otherwise below the best tackle standards. Until the Orange crumpled in its last two big games, Jim Steen of Syracuse was a towering figure in the tackle list and not even defeat can deprive him of high rating. Maddox of Kansas State and "Cash" Gentry of Oklahoma stood out in Big Six company.

From a wealth of great guards, the top places go to the Pittsburgh captain, Doc Hartwig, and North Carolina's versatile leader, George Barclay, only after one of the hottest of all-America arguments. Hartwig, completing three consistently great years at his position as a line leader, is closely matched by his teammate, Kenneth Ormiston, a more spectacular figure on the offense. Together they form the best pair of guards in the country and are rated by neutral critics as just about on a par. Playing with a headgear, Minnesota's fiery Bevan has had some superlative days but he lacks something in consistency.

For the vital role at center the all-America spot goes to Darrell Lester, 215-pound powerhouse of Texas Christian line which upset Rice. Lester stood out like a lighthouse all season, even when the Frogs were losing. He carried a terrific charge and out-ranked a group of fine pivot-men in the southwest, including Coates of Arkansas, Lester's chief rivals, elsewhere. Included Jack Robinson of Notre Dame, a consistently fine performer on an in-and-out team, and Franklin Meier, latest in a line of capable Nebraska centers. A physical freak at center, 159-pound George Shotwell of Pittsburgh played brilliantly in the middle of Pittsburgh's great line. Larry Steimer of San Francisco was all-Pacific Coast center. Captain Eliwood Kaibagha of Princeton, Homer Robinson of Tulane, and Captain Elmore Patterson of Chicago rank well up on the list, while Columbia's hard-tackling center, Al Ciampa, turned in a consistently fine record.

STARTING HURLER IS SOUGHT BY GRIMM IN SHAKE-UP OF BRUINS
By WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago—(P)—Charlie Grimm's campaign to tear the Chicago Cubs apart and put them back together with new parts is not finished yet. If he can find someone willing to swap a good starting pitcher for Kiki Cuyler or, if necessary, Woody English, Grimm is pretty well satisfied with what he accomplished at the minor league meeting at Louisville last week, but still years for another starting hurler.

The Cub pilot won individual honors in leading at Louisville when he swapped Jim Weaver, Guy Bush and Babe Herman to Pittsburgh for Southpaw Larry French and Freddy Lindstrom and Bud Tinning and Dick Ward to the world championship St. Louis Cardinals, for Tex Carleton.

"We are pretty well set with Lon Warneke, Bill Lee, French and Carleton for starters, but I still want to trade for another one."

"There are several teams that would like to have Cuyler, English or Stan Hack, and we might be able to make a deal with them. I don't want to give up English unless I absolutely have to. He can play three infield positions and I want to keep him for utility."

"We can let Cuyler go as we have Chuck Klein, Tuck Statinback and Frank Demaree for our regular outfield next season, and it's hardly fair to expect a man of Cuyler's ability to sit on the bench most of the time."

Grimm hopes to make that deal during the major league meeting at New York December 11.

Handing in his resignation shortly after losing a close game to Stanford, 9-7, Navy Bill Ingram, University of California coach, has announced he is leaving football to take up a business career in San Francisco.

Ingram, in constant conflict with alumni all season, still had a year to serve on his contract. Leonard "Stub" Allison, Ingram's first assistant, succeeds him.

CUTTER PUTS HIS HOME TOWN ON MAP

Oswego, Ill., Dec. 1.—(P)—Natives of Oswego, a thriving town of 1,000 souls, thrust out their chests with pride today.

Their champion flute player, Slade Cutter, had blown a sweet note for them and the United States Navy and a sour one for the Army mule.

Almost every person in Oswego jammed into Slade Cutter's drug store to hear the broadcast of the Army-Navy football game, hopeful that Slade's nephew would get his name mentioned occasionally at least. When the Oswego youth kicked the 19-yard field goal in the first period, the crowd around Uncle Scott's radio became almost delirious. Cheers broke out and everyone shook Uncle Scott's hand when the game ended with Slade's boot providing the winning margin.

"Well," beamed Uncle Scott, "Slade did it. Oswego is on the map at last. Wonder if he had his flute tucked in his molehills."

Slade once passed up football to become the national flute blowing champion of the United States in the High school class. Although built along the lines of a husky football player, Slade wasn't interested in the game when he entered East Aurora High, near Oswego. Instead, he joined the high school band, doing unheard of tricks with his magic flute. In 1928, he entered the national high school contest and blew his way into the flute championship without half trying. After matriculating at Ann Arbor, Slade gave up his flute and picked up a football; kicked up a football is a little more accurate. He became one of the finest kickers in midshipman football history. With his weight of 226 pounds, encased in a six foot two inch frame, he also campaigned in the amateur heavyweight division and won the eastern title two years running.

"His last fight was at Syracuse," said Uncle Scott. "After he had flattened his man, a New York promoter offered him a three-year contract for $50,000 to fight professionally. Slade turned that down, naturally. He loves the Navy and intends sticking there."

Uncle Scott estimated that "seven or eight telegrams" of congratulation were dispatched to their town hero by the excited Oswego citizens tonight.

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wally Cutter, will give him their congratulations first hand as they saw the game along with Slade's two brothers, Frederick and Walter Jr., and his sister, Betty Louise.

"His dad has been ill for some time, but the prospect of watching his son play against the Army just lifted him out of his bed and made him well again," said Uncle Scott. "Guess Wally is kicking around like a two-year old this minute."

Slade also gave Oswego a big thrill by kicking the goal that gave Navy its victory over Notre Dame, but it didn't compare to the one he turned in today by beating the Army, in the minds of Oswego.

THINK STANFORD HAS INVITED TROUBLE BY SELECTING ALABAMA

Pasadena, Cal.—(P)—Western football fans reviewed the situation today and suddenly realized Stanford had invited itself a peck of trouble when it named Alabama as a Rose Bowl opponent New Year's Day.

The Crimson Tide has yet to taste defeat in the Rose Bowl after three appearances here.

Stanford has fared rather badly in the classic, losing twice, getting one tie and winning once by one point.

Whether the present combination of Palo Alto is better than that which tied the Bama boys 7 to 7 in 1927 remains to be seen. And there is the pertinent question of whether the Crimson Tide is better, as it appears to be.

Certainly Stanford will be seeking revenge. Almost to a man the 1934 eleven is the same as that Columbia beat 7 to 0 last year.

On the shoulders of Coach Tiny Thornhill's men also rests the job of trying to cut into the impressive list of wins Southerners have piled up in the inter-sectional battle.

The South boasts a 3 to 1 edge in games won and lost over the West in the 19-year-old event. The victories stand at one each for the West and Midwest while the East is on the short end of a 6 to 2 count. Two of the South's wins were turned in by Alabama at the expense of Washington in 1926, 50 to 19 and Washington State, 24 to 0, in 1931. Georgia Tech beat California in the other game.

It has been pointed out frequently that the South has been more successful than other opponents because weather encountered here at that time of year, yet this hardly accounts for the triumphs of Notre Dame, Columbia, and Harvard and the 0 to 0 tie contest between Washington and Jefferson and California.

Midshipmen Win Their First Game From Service Opponent In 13 Years Before 80,000

By Edward J. Neil,
Associated Press Sports Writer,
Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—(P)—The boom of Slade Cutter's mud-encrusted boot, like the crash of battle cruiser broadside in some far rolling sea, roared out the end of Army's 13-year football domination over Navy today as 80,000 hysterical, rain-drenched partisans howled at as great a battle as these great service rivals ever have staged.

It was by the measure of that boot—a placement as dead on the bulls' eye as any the giant Midshipman from Oswego, Ill., ever will draw when he comes to man the navy's guns—that the sailors rocketed to a 3 to 0 triumph, first time Army has crumpled under their fire since 1921. Twice since then, in 1932 when neither could score, in 1936 when 110,000 saw them struggle to a fantastic 21-21 tie in Chicago, there was no decision. The remainder of these great climaxes of the regular season have all been Army's, including the last five in a row.

So it was that the greatest throng since that 1926 duel, filling every nook and cranny of the huge Franklin field horseshoe stands, roared through their discomfiture in extra gloe, as Cutter, a magnificent right tackle, smashed his shot home from the 19 yard line almost at the close of the first period to restore the Navy tradition of field goal victories in the classic, established by the great Jack Dalton and carried on by "Babe" Brown in the days before the war.

All the might, though, all the alertness, the agility and stamina of Cutter, of the all-America ball-carrying Jack rabbit, Fred (Buz) Borries, of Louisville, Ky., of Fullback Bill Clark, from Garner, Iowa, a remarkable kicker, of every many Navy could leave in there, in fact, was necessary to hold luckless Army on a battle-field that was a mess of slime, a shiny, slippery tablet and as green as pea-soup and just as gooey.

Army could do little on its own behalf with the monies of playing field and with "Texas" Jack Buckler, from Waco, cadet counterpart of the irrepressible Borries, helpless in the first half, and not even able to play in the second due to a leg injury he has suffered most of the season. What opportunities Army did have, Navy gave.

Once in the third quarter, when Borries tossed the sticky ball in the only sailor attempt at a forward pass all day, Maurice Simons, of Fort Leavenworth, Kans., the big gun in Army's attack as Buckler's replacement, intercepted the heave and came back 15 yards to the sailors' 35.

The Army surge carried over into the fourth quarter, but it died on Navy's 22 as Bill Clark, a heroic figure in the mud-plastered setting, dragged down Simons' pass. This was one of five passes Army attempted only to have three intercepted, one incomplete, and one complete for a bare one yard gain. Clark made the interception on Navy's 15 and blasted West Point's best scoring end.

Burly 202 pound Carl Miller, Army's left tackle from Bath, N. Y., gave the storm-tossed Cadets a final thrill after Clark had kicked Navy out of that hole with a boot that sailed from his own 19 yard scrimmage line all the way over Simons' head Army's 12, 69 yards in all. A few plays later, Miller smashed through on Clark as the kicker was trying to hit the coffin corner as he had done earlier leading up to Navy's score in the first period. Miller smothered the ball, picked it up on his own 40, and got to Navy's 46 before Borries, who was everywhere, dragged him down from behind. Chuck Meyer, of Fort Sheridan, Ill., a substitute for Simons, promptly fumbled the ball away on Navy's 43, where Clark grabbed it and Army, as far as this ball game was concerned, was done for the day.

Navy made only three first downs and gained 109 yards from scrimmage. Army made two first downs and picked up only 70 yards running. The condition of the playing field, applying to all but Borries, accounted for that.

But to Borries, named today an All-America back on the Associated Press first eleven, it meant nothing more than all the other tremendous odds he has faced all season as the Midshipmen walloped Columbia, Penn and Notre Dame in major victories up to today, losing only to the crushing power of Pitt.

ILLINOIS CAGERS OPEN SEASON WITH VICTORY

Get Going in Second Half To Submerge Shurtleff by 35-14; Meet Champs Next

Turning on the steam after loitering through the first half, Illinois College's cagers played and won the first game of the Illinois College conference season Saturday night on the Illinois School for the Deaf court from Shurtleff college of Upper Alton 35-14. Shurtleff's stubborn defense summed up most of the Blueboy scoring efforts in the first half, but with the turn of the half, the local collegians went into a bit more advanced basketball and shot out into a lead which did not leave the outcome in doubt.

The game indicated the Blueboys will have a lot of things to accomplish before they can hope to spring a victory on Joe Hutton's Minnesota state champions, the Hamilton University team which appears here Dec. 10, at Alton.

most at the start of a southern trip. They also have to get ready to meet Millikin on Dec. 14.

Illinois appeared to be determined to make one play work during the first half, and after ten minutes of play they were leading 3-2. It was interesting to watch the ball handling, but the fans began to get a bit uneasy as Jimmy Winn and Louis Lasiter missed shot after shot at the hoop. Shooting and ball handling didn't get any better during the remainder of the first half, and Illinois led by the scant margin of 9-4 at the close of the half.

Play didn't speed up appreciably at the start of the second half, but the scoring went ahead by leaps and bounds. Lasiter, Winn and Amidel contributed buckets from the field and Illinois led 17-4 within two minutes after the second half began. Five minutes after the first half opened, Illinois was in front 20-2.

Again the Blueboys stopped their assault, coasting along until at the end of ten minutes of play they held a 23-8 lead, and with four minutes to go they were in front 27-12. Illinois resorted to long shots during the closing minutes, with McCollum and Fletcher hitting once each from the center of the court as the Shurtleff defense ganged up under the basket to stop Winn and Lasiter.

Lasiter Gets 11 Points
Lasiter, who led the conference in scoring last year, had a tough evening at the wicket, but in spite of this came off the court with 11 points. Jim "Pete" Winn took the scoring honors with 13 points, tossing in a bucket in the last minute to break the tie and Lasiter developed about midway of the second half.

There was too much Lasiter and Winn for the Pioneers to handle. Shurtleff was able to stop one of the two boys but when it came to stifling both Winn and Lasiter, it couldn't be done. The two big scorers had to get accustomed to a new fall first, finding the ball used in the game much "liver" than the ones they were accustomed to handling.

Illinois did not appear to be ready for the opening game, for during the opening half they were unable to crack the spirited and swift Shurtleff defense. Ball handling was good in the open court, but when the Shurtleff defense closed in, it was almost impossible to get the ball to anyone but Shurtleff players.

Shurtleff was unable to connect with the hoop, and although they broke through the Illinois defense a few times, they were unable to get close enough for a lay-in shot. Most of the Shurtleff scoring efforts were made from near the center of the court. Menzie leading the shooting with nine of the 14 points his team scored.

Illinois went through the first half without making a replacement, but at the beginning of the final half, McCollum and Amidel went in, and shortly afterwards Cochran and W. Bundy took the court. Watts, Mitchell and Taylor also had a chance to play for a few minutes.

Ralph Fletcher, who took the only open position in the starting line-up, impressed the spectators as being a coming basketmaker. Norbert Miller appears to have improved over his play of last year.

Freshmen Win Opener.

The college freshmen cagers surprised the coach and captured the opening game of the double bill by a 37-21 score from the Peoria Y. M. C. A. team. Illinois used nine players in chalking up the victory, and were never pressed.

Huey Long's Louisiana Grid Team is Defeated by Tulane 13 to 12 Before 30,000 Fans

By Ralph Wheatley
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baton Rouge, La., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Huey Long's Louisiana Tigers were defeated by Tulane's Green Wave 13 to 12 today before a crowd of 30,000 in one of the most thrilling games ever played on Louisiana soil.

If two teams ever were evenly matched these were the two. The great Tiger halfback, Abe Mickal, was pitted against the great Green Wave back, Monk Simons, in a duel of punts, passes and broken field runs. The Green Wave had an advantage in that Mickal had a bad knee, which probably accounted for his missing two kicks for the extra point that lost the game.

Mickal was taken off the field on a stretcher as his mates were battling the charging Green Wave on L. S. U.'s five-yard line. A few minutes after he had gone, Monk Simons charged over the Tiger line for the deciding touchdown.

Huey Long, who had boasted that the Tigers could kick anything in a football uniform, took the defeat with a grin.

"They just beat us, that's all," he said as he walked across the field. Clearly he was keenly disappointed. Tulane broke the ice in the first quarter, working the ball to the Tiger 27-yard line in an exchange of punts.

Here Simons threw a pass to Hardy. Tulane's end, who raced over for an extra point, the only one of the game and the winning point.

In the second quarter, with the ball on the 23-yard line, Simons stepped back to kick. Tinsley, L. S. U.'s brilliant end, leaped into the air and blocked the kick, spinning the ball into the air and into a group of Tiger and Greenie players. Suddenly Seago, Tiger fullback, wheeled out of the heap and raced over for L. S. U.'s first touchdown. Mickal missed the extra point from a place kick, making the score 7 to 6.

In the third quarter with the ball in midfield, Mickal hurled a fast pass to his end, Barrett, who started for a touch down but was thrown on the five yard line by Loftin. Mickal scored a moment later, but again missed the try for point.

Snatching the sports throne from under old king football, basketball, the great mid-winter sport of the colleges and high schools, will get under full steam this week with all of the local and near-by teams either bursting into the middle of their season, or taking on opponents scheduled for warm-ups.

Jacksonville high will break open the prep season here Tuesday night by meeting Coach L. E. Loughorn's and coming Franklin team, a quintet which gave the Murrayville Shadows a tight battle on the Franklin court not long ago.

All of the local prep teams will be active this week-end, Chapin playing at J. H. S. while Routt goes to Ashland and I. S. D. goes to Decatur. Saturday night the Grimsoms will be at Carrollton, I. S. D. will be at Clinton, and Routt will hold the center of the stage at home, meeting Quincy Academy.

Coach Frank Walker is building his team around several veterans from last year's squad, using Stanley Davis and George Hamilton as the main guns in the scoring attack. The Crimsom team this year promises to be larger than last year's quintet, and will be more experienced.

Routt is pushing ahead with the gloomiest outlook the team has had in a number of years. Not a single regular from last year's squad is back this year. Coach Wallace Baptist alternately believes that this year's team is going to be better and worse than last year's quintet. The Rocket lineup is still far from being decided, with Bob Henry, Vincent Lomergan, and "Skeets" Lawrence about the only

Adult Night School Classes Will Begin Here Monday Night

First class meetings of the Adult Night school, to be conducted at the Jacksonville High school during the next 3 months, will be held Monday evening, Dec. 3. It was announced Saturday by City Supt. R. O. Stoops. The classes are made possible by the educational relief fund with fully certified instructors in charge.

Two courses are offered at the night school, one in English and Better speech; the other in Arithmetic and Elementary Business Forms. A group of colored adults also will meet for a class in reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling.

Sixty Jacksonville residents already have enrolled for the courses. They will meet Monday evening for the first class periods, and are asked to take any friends who may be interested in the instruction offered. The courses are practical, arranged to meet the problems of the adult who wishes to advance in these subjects.

Persons enrolled represent ages from 18 to 45.

Under the educational relief fund this city has been allotted $500 per month for three months to carry on the work. Unemployed teachers will constitute the faculty. The Board of Education is furnishing the rooms, light and heat, but all expenses for supplies are met out of the $500 allotment each month.

Classes will be held five nights each week, but members of the various classes may designate the number of nights they wish to meet. Classes will convene at 7 o'clock and remain in session until 9 o'clock.

HOLD MISSOURIAN FOUND AT CORN CRIB IN JAIL HERE

Farmer Surprises Stranger Said To Have Been Loading Grain in Truck

A man giving his name as Bob Henry of Curryville, Mo., is being held at the Morgan county jail, after he is said to have been found loading corn from a crib on the William Rawlings farm north of Lynnville into a truck. The man was nabbed by sheriff's deputies after Mr. Rawlings held him at the point of a shotgun, late last night.

Rawlings was notified by neighbors that someone was loading corn from his crib into a truck and seizing his shotgun he went to the scene of the corn loading and confronted Henry with the weapon. Marching him to his home he called the sheriff's office and Deputies Justus Wright and Sam Harris went to the Rawlings farm and returned with the prisoner.

The truck bears a Missouri license, and it contained about 30 bushels of corn when the loading was stopped by Rawlings.

FORMER CONCORD RESIDENT WRITES FROM WEST STATE

Concord, Dec. 1.—S. M. Henderson received an interesting letter on Friday from his former schoolmate, Dr. Grant Craig, now of Los Angeles. The letter follows:

Los Angeles, Nov. 25, 1934.
It is 20 years and more since I saw you on a short visit on a hot day in August, 1914. It was a few days after the shot that set Europe aflame. I had not seen you before that for an even longer time, and so I wonder if you are "there." I have thought of you and my native town. Also I have wondered how things are there. How the people get along and who if any are still there that I would know and who would remember me.

You must have heard of the death of my brother Charlie, at his home in Kansas City on Sept. 29, 1934. My three sisters had gone long before and I the youngest am the only one of the family that remains. I was 70 last May 2nd. I am in pretty good health and spirits, though far from being prosperous. All of my first cousins, too, are gone, so that I alone represent my generation. Several of my cousins died in their 90's. Brother Charlie was 79. For a long time I have been contemplating this matter of writing and I will now tell you what spurred me to take up my pen.

Last Sunday evening was "All States Night" at the First M. E. church here. We were grouped according to our native state, and Illinois took first prize in numbers, 175. Iowa was second and California third. Each person was presented a large chrysanthemum and there must have been 1,000 flowers given to members.

Now I must digress and tell you of this wonderful church. It was built about 10 years ago just before I came here. It seats 3,500, and has a membership of nearly 4,500. I have heard more than one bishop say it is the largest and finest church in Methodism. Its budget calls for $1,100 per week now and in prosperous times much more. This is an institution, and does a great work, both here and abroad. It has a great pastor, an associate pastor, and a visiting pastor. It has a senior choir of 100, a junior choir of 100 and a weekly paper, Well, on "States Night" we were all taken, in fancy, back to our old home towns. With lights down, we were transported by instrumental music. We heard the trains running and chugging; the whistle, the bell ringing and so forth, and when it chugged away, leaving us at the home platform, we heard the familiar sounds in the village, the barnyard and orchard and grove. Say, that girl could whistle like a bird, and so I decided to write to you.

A year before I came out here, my right hand was broken and I could not practice dentistry until my hand grew strong and nimble again. I opened my office again for awhile, but had a breakdown in health and so I came out here. After coming out here I entered a hospital for an operation which was successful and now I am happy and well again and am happy for a man of my age. In this state there is an old age pension law passed since I came out. Persons 70 and over get a small pension after they have been in the state 15 years. It is expected that the time limit will be reduced to 10 years.

Dr. Craig then mentioned the names of some old friends in this county, many of whom have passed on. He finished the letter while resting in Exposition park which must be a wonderful place, according to his description. There are acres of fine velvety lawns with flowers and shrubbery to add to the beauty. Dr. Craig was born a mile west of Concord and his father, known as "Uncle Perry," died here March 1, 1877. Dr. Craig's address is 834 West 10th street, Los Angeles.

The first dividend of ten per cent was paid last February. At that time the checks were back in Jacksonville three weeks after they were forwarded to Washington.

The machinery for the payment of this dividend was set into motion several months ago. Receiver Greene made a trip to Washington in October to negotiate the R.P.C. loan, but no announcement of his mission was made at that time.

News of the payment will be heralded throughout the community with justifiable gladness. While not per cent will be paid to work by many persons in the way it will do the most good. Three hundred thousand dollars released in the community as winter approaches will do considerable to improve conditions.

Ayers National Bank Depositors to Receive Ten Per Cent Dividend

A ten per cent dividend will be paid to depositors of the Ayers National bank within the next few weeks, Nelson H. Greene, the receiver, announced Saturday in an official statement. Checks totaling about $300,000 were expressed from this city to Washington yesterday for final certification by the comptroller. On their return these will be distributed to depositors.

Mr. Greene's announcement was brief, but it is good news to thousands of depositors of the closed bank. Six thousand depositors will receive checks in this second dividend payment.

The exact date upon which payment of the checks will be started is not known, but it is expected that not more than two weeks will be required to get the checks back from Washington.

Receiver Greene's statement to depositors follows:

"Checks covering a second dividend of ten per cent, payable to the depositors of the Ayers National bank of Jacksonville who have filed their claims, have been forwarded to Washington, D. C., to be signed by the comptroller of the currency. Upon the return of these checks amounting to approximately $300,000, they will be immediately distributed to those who present their receiver's certificates which are evidences of the holder's rights to this dividend. This dividend has been made possible by obtaining a Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan. Further dividends will be paid as the liquidation proceeds.

"Depositors are cautioned to bear in mind that receiver's certificates held by them must be presented personally in order to insure prompt delivery of the checks to them."

"Nelson H. Greene, Receiver."

Further Dividends Possible
Receiver Greene's statement carries a note of optimism, as he stated that further dividends will be paid as the liquidation proceeds. While he did not elaborate upon that statement it is believed indicative of still further payments to depositors in the future.

In making announcement of the second dividend payment the receiver said it usually requires two weeks in which to receive checks back from the comptroller's offices. After the checks are returned here another two days will be necessary for sorting and making them ready for distribution. The middle of this month probably will see the payment under way.
